

F-F-F:FAST, FAIR and FOREVER!

August Newsletter of the Plymouth Campaign against Climate Change

This September, millions of people around the world will take to the streets to demand a rapid, just, and equitable end to fossil fuels as world leaders gather at the UN in New York.

The biggest cause of the climate crisis is fossil fuels. The coal, oil and gas industry is responsible for the climate crisis and drives a predatory and destructive economic system that harms people and the planet, fuelling climate breakdown. Fossil fuels are bad for the climate, ecosystems, our people, our health, our democracies, and our economies.

The science is clear: the world needs a rapid and just transition away from fossil fuels to an energy and economic system that is efficient, fair, and equitable. A system based on clean energy sources and produced with respect for nature and the rights of the world's working class and Indigenous peoples.

To have hope of addressing the root causes of the climate crisis, leaders of the biggest polluting countries must deliver a fast and fair fossil fuel phase out and fund it globally.

For decades, people and communities globally have sounded the alarm about the dangers of destructive coal, oil & gas industries. Across the world, people are fighting back against the fossil fuel industry: we're resisting the development of new pipelines, mines and infrastructure; we're demanding that financial institutions stop funding fossil fuels; we're pushing for a rapid, just and equitable phase out of all fossil fuels; we are fighting back against unproven technologies that don't address the root cause of the climate crisis, and we're demanding that big oil, coal and gas companies are held accountable and pay for the harm they cause.

something in the future, it's here
now. Already we are seeing more extreme weather events with a deadly impact. Severe heatwaves, wildfires across the Mediterranean,
ocean surface temperatures
destroying marine ecosystems.

Corporations and politicians have known the threat from climate change for decades, funding campaigns of denial and "greenwash". Now they expect working class people to pay the price. We must make the fossil fuel corporations pay for the changes we need for survival.
