

PROTEST COP30

→ → → The 30th UN climate conference will take place from 10-21 November 2025 in Belém, Brazil, to discuss priority actions to tackle climate change. The COP process has not delivered. We must protest for global and local action now to prevent climate collapse. That's why we're mobilising:

People - Space A

2-3pm: Climate Activism and protest under attack - know your rights: with Zoe Smith (Netpol guidance)

New anti-protest laws have been introduced giving police broad powers to restrict protests deemed "disruptive". What does this mean for freedom of speech and assembly? How can we protect ourselves? How do we resist?

3:15-4:15: Climate Justice, Reparations and the Global South with Anairda, Plymouth Women's Network

What are reparations to the Global South and how are they connected to climate justice? This talk and creative workshop will explore a Global South's perspective on the impact of these dilemmas and how we might imagine a way out together.

4:30-5:30: Climate Feelings - our emotional response to the climate crisis with Marc Gardiner & Debbie Freeman, Plymouth Zebra Collective

From climate anxiety to climate guilt or "eco-anger", our reactions to the crisis can range from mild to debilitating but they can also be transformative and prompt us to action. Join us at this interactive workshop to explore how to face what we feel and evoke motivation and hope.

Politics - Space B

2-3pm: Why Climate is a Working Class issue! with Tony Staunton Plymouth TUC & Campaign against Climate Change / We Demand Change!

Trade Unions have declared 2026 as the year of climate action in our workplaces and communities. What does this mean, what can we do? What are Climate jobs and the essential adaptations for protection from extremes of weather, floods and droughts?

3:15-4:15: Imperialism, Climate & War with Tom Unterrainer, National Chair of CND & Bertrand Russell Foundation

Preparations for War are advancing ahead of climate collapse, the genocide in Palestine evidence of political instabilities and imperialist rivalries amid economic turmoil and ecological catastrophe. How do we build the Movement of Movements for Peace with Social Justice?

4:30-5:30: Nuclear Guardianship with Nikki Clark from South West Against Nuclear (SWAN)

Nuclear infrastructure continues to be developed. How will we manage it in the long term? How will it work in the face of climate and civilisation breakdown? Join this dynamic conversation with an experienced activist.
